Please use this when constructing the soffits. Note the detail requires 2 layers of type X GWB for rating but the third layer is added for improved acoustic performance. Use fire/acoustic caulk as used elsewhere in ceiling to wall intersections. At drop ceilings use typical detail 21/G311 6) Per International Firestop Counsel (IFC) guidelines, engineering judgments are firestop designs created by qualified personnel based off of third-party tested and approved systems. These designs are in accordance with the recommended IFC guidelines for evaluating firestop system engineering judgments. 7) Per Fire Protection Engineer (Ryan Kolodetsky, Hilti North America), an EJ showing the joint shown in detail 26/G501 has been provided. Please follow this when constructing the soffits. Use fire/acoustic caulk as used elsewhere in ceiling to wall intersections. At drop ceilings use typical detail 21/G311. Note, the unrated soffit is not shown in the EJ since it does not contribute to the rating of the assembly.
